ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus that represents a charge pump output signal as a superposition of current steps that step in opposite directions at different times.

004148.P011